

The Urban Families Program, Skillman Center for Children presents:

Helping Children and Youth Cope with Grief and Loss

Many children and youth today are living with grief and loss due to the prevalence of violence in their lives. Our young people experience this at a community level when they witness violent acts in their neighborhoods. They may see partner abuse through parents or custodians. They may even be victims of violence in the home, school or in their neighborhood. This training will examine some of the programs and strategies that have proved helpful in serving this population.

Skillman Center for Children Registration Information and Policies

Registration for all Skillman Center for Children events is on a first come, first served basis. Many of our workshops and trainings have limited enrollments so registration deadlines will be enforced. Registration deadline is noon the day before the event. For fee-based events, you will not be considered registered until we have received your payment. Payments sent through the mail are not a guarantee of registration as others may have sent their fees in ahead of yours. We will confirm your registration, or will give you the possibility of being on a waiting list if the workshop or training is to be offered again or will return your fee. Make check or money order out to Wayne State University. Mail to Skillman Center for Children, Wayne State University, 100 East Palmer, Detroit Michigan 48202. It takes approximately 2 weeks for mail to reach us through the Wayne State mail system. We recommend you hand-deliver your payment to the same address. Please let us know if you require a receipt.

Refund Policy: We will credit you for a future workshop if you cancel before noon 2 working days prior to the training or workshop. Any cancellations after that date will result in a forfeit of your registration fee. There will be no refunds under any circumstances. Please understand this is because we prepare materials and purchase refreshments based on the number registered. Also we have a waiting list of individuals who would welcome the opportunity to attend our trainings. We can accommodate them if vacancies are known in advance (this may be you!).

Please make your own arrangements for child care if needed. Much as we love children, they can be disruptive to other participants during our training sessions, forums, conferences, video previews and other events. Thank you!!

Note: The Skillman Center is handicap accessible. Please call for details.
